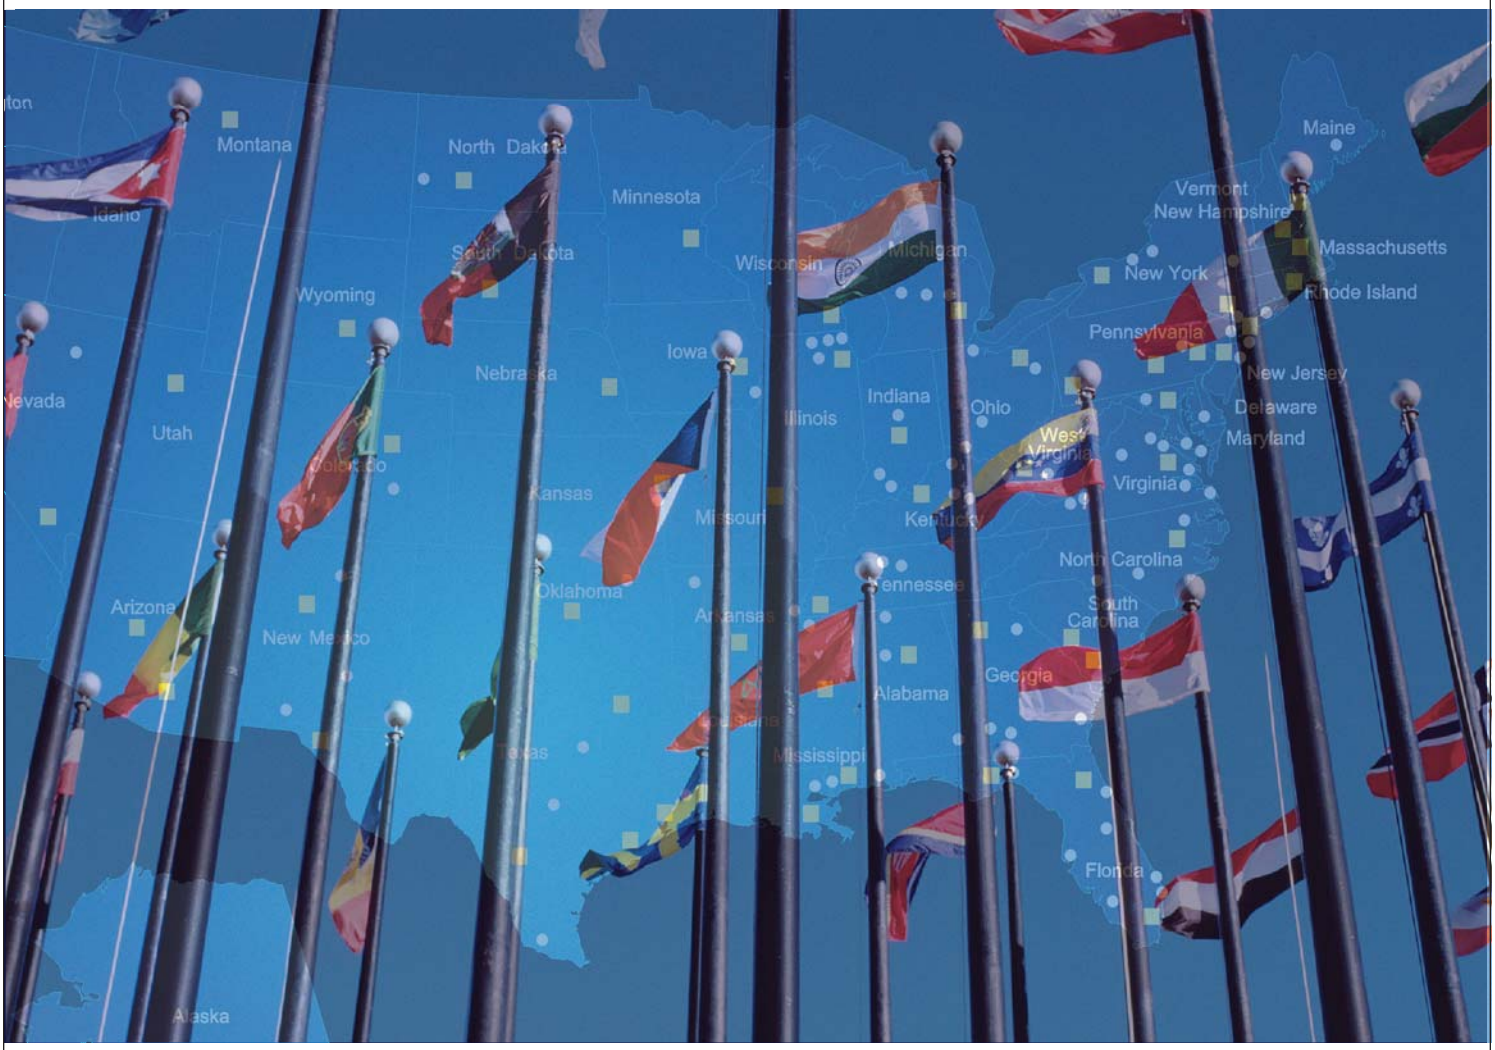
Juggling global commercial transactions and finite in-house legal resources?



Let USLAW close the deal.

The corporate climate in American is in a constant state of change. Shifts in the regulatory landscape, disruptions in the financial markets, and emerging global economies have all had an impact on business today. Resources are stretched and the pressure is intense to bolster the bottom line.

In today's interconnected global business world, when transactions cross geographic boundaries, we provide our clients with direct access to law firms in numerous locales — streamlining the legal procurement process, leveraging your internal legal resources and expediting transactions where time equals money.

Our team works nationally and globally through our partnership with the Trans-European Law Firm Alliance to help you manage and maximize your internal transactional resources to deliver expedited transactions and exceptional results.

In today's global marketplace, let USLAW help you close the deal.
